Children's Hospital of Wisconsin®

A member of Children's Hospital and Health System.

Nutrition counseling services

Children's Hospital of Wisconsin Clinics-New Berlin offers nutrition counseling services to help patients and families who have concerns and questions about diet, feedings or growth, and healthy eating.

Visiting our clinic

Our dietitian can help with a variety of nutrition issues such as:

- Failure to thrive or poor weight gain.
- Hypertension.
- Problems with high cholesterol or triglycerides (fatty substances in the blood).
- Overweight.
- Picky eating or general healthy nutrition.
- Polycystic ovarian syndrome.
- Some food allergies.
- Sports nutrition.
- Vegetarianism.

Our team

A registered dietitian is a food and nutrition expert who has passed a national exam and is certified by the state of Wisconsin. Children's Hospital's registered dietitians also have advanced training to care for children.

Call for an appointment

For a nutrition counseling appointment, please call Children's Hospital of Wisconsin Clinics-New Berlin at (262) 432-7703.

A dietitian may contact you for more information prior to the appointment.

Payment

Payment is required at time of service:

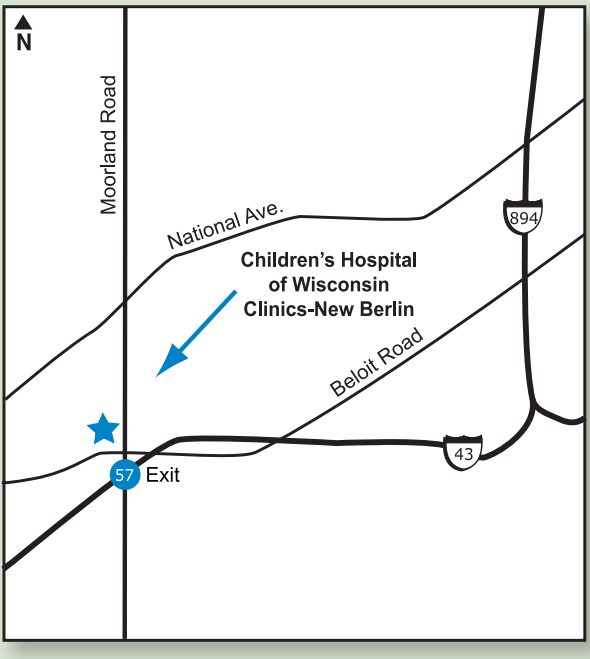
- The first visit is one hour, and the cost is $75.
- Follow-up visits may be 30 minutes ($40) or one hour.

Payment may be made by check or credit card.

Services may be covered by insurance. Contact your health insurance company for more information.

Clinic location

Services are available at Children's Hospital of Wisconsin Clinics-New Berlin. For more information, including directions to the clinic, visit chw.org/newberlin.



Children's Hospital of Wisconsin Clinics-New Berlin
4855 S. Moorland Road
New Berlin, WI 53151
chw.org/newberlin

© 2010 Children's Hospital and Health System. All rights reserved.
Exacta 500 dfc 0210