Abuse is a very scary topic for children, parents and other family members. Fortunately, Children’s Hospital of Wisconsin’s Chippewa Valley Child Advocacy Center is here to help you and your child through this hard time. This brochure will help explain what happens when you visit the center.

Directions
From US Business Hwy. 53, turn west on Highland Avenue. The Child Advocacy Center is located inside the Regis Court II Professional Building which is on the north (right) side of Highland Avenue. Go to Suite M on the lower level.

Handicap parking is available behind the building.

Important telephone numbers
- Children’s Hospital of Wisconsin Child and Family Counseling Program: (715) 835-5915
- Eau Claire County Victim Services Program: (715) 831-5846
- Family Support Center
- Sexual Assault Outreach Program: (715) 830-0188
What is the Child Advocacy Center?
The Child Advocacy Center is a safe place for kids who may have been abused. The center brings together a team of specially trained professionals who evaluate and investigate cases of child abuse and help children and their families.

The Child Advocacy Center is a place for your child to feel safe and supported. The center’s child-friendly waiting room and interview room have been designed to help you and your child feel comfortable and safe.

What happens when I arrive at the Child Advocacy Center?
When you come to the Child Advocacy Center you will be welcomed by a team member who will take time to get to know you and your child. Other parts of your child’s visit may include:
• A video-recorded interview about the suspected abuse, and/or
• A medical evaluation.

Who will I meet with at the Child Advocacy Center?
A team of professionals works with you and your child during and after your visit to the Child Advocacy Center. All team members have special training in working with children and families in crisis. Members of this team include:
• Medical providers.
• Social workers.
• Police officers.
• Victim advocates and other specialists to help a child and the family before, during and after his or her visit.

What happens during the interview with my child?
During the interview your child will speak with a person trained to speak with kids about abuse. This interview is recorded so that your child may only have to speak about the abuse once. To help the child from becoming distracted, parents are not allowed in the interview room. When the interview is finished, the recording will be used as a part of the child abuse investigation.

What happens during medical evaluations?
If a medical exam is recommended, medical history is gathered, and a medical provider will perform a gentle head-to-toe check-up on your child to look for signs of abuse.

What happens after the interview or medical evaluation?
At the end of your appointment, you will meet with team members to discuss your child’s appointment, get resources, ask questions and learn more about what will happen next.

How do I schedule an appointment?
Appointments are arranged by police officers, human service agencies and through referrals by other medical providers.

What do I need to bring with me?
It often is helpful to bring the following with you when you come to the Child Advocacy Center:
• Snacks and comfort items such as stuffed animals or other small toys.
• Medical insurance information, if you have medical insurance.
• A supportive adult to assist you and your child during the appointment.

The Child Advocacy Center has limited space available. If possible, we ask that you do not bring other children with you to the appointment unless requested.

Will I receive a bill for my child’s appointment?
The Child Advocacy Center does not charge a fee for the interview. Most medical insurance companies will pay for all or a portion of these exams and any related lab tests. If you do not have medical insurance, a staff member will discuss options with you.

An important note for parents
During this difficult time, it is recommended that you do not ask your child questions about the abuse. If your child asks questions about the abuse, answer him or her in a simple way that he or she will understand.

For more information or guidance, call Chippewa Valley Child Advocacy Center at (715) 835-5915