2019 Pediatric Nursing Conference
October 30, 2019
8:30 a.m. - 4 p.m.
Crowne Plaza Milwaukee Airport
6401 S. 13th St., Milwaukee, Wis.
The speakers for the conference have no conflicts of interest to disclose. Parent panel disclosures (if any) will be made the day of the conference.
Welcome to the 2019 Pediatric Nursing Conference!

At Children’s, we strive to be “at our best” by living our values. The Pediatric Nursing Conference gives you the opportunity for innovation through learning and continuous development.

Pediatric nurses promise to care for and about children, and their families. We’re excited to make that our focus today. Each family we care for has different challenges as they navigate their health care needs. We hope you are inspired to think about how you can impact families on their health care journey.

It’s important to care for yourself so you’re able to care for others. While you’re here, please be sure to support each other, reset by taking some time at the self-care stations, and restore with our motivating plenary speaker at the end of the day.

Anna’s Family

Throughout the day, consider how you could care for this family during their care journey.

Anna is a 6 month old, former 34 week preemie, who lives in middle northern Wisconsin, not too far outside of one of the larger cities. She lives with her dad and brother.

Her dad is employed full time although without health insurance. Anna stays with her paternal grandma during the day. Anna’s brother is in middle school and is 13 years old. He has type 1 diabetes and asthma. He has had some emergency room visits and hospitalizations over the last two years related to poor control of both conditions.

Anna’s mom is involved and usually lives at home with them, but is currently living in a residential program for opioid addiction as part of a recent conviction. She is doing well in her program and is expected to complete 4 more weeks of the 8 week program.

Over the past few days, Anna has had a cold and runny nose. Her brother was sick last week and their grandmother has been more congested than usual (she typically has a baseline smoker’s cough). Anna has recently been having a harder time breathing and started gasping. Grandma called dad to come home and then called 911.

This started the following care journey:
1. Admission to an outside hospital Emergency Room for respiratory distress
2. Transported to Children’s for high flow O2 related to RSV
3. Eventual PICU intubation for respiratory failure secondary to RSV and pneumonia
4. Recovery to extubation with eventual transfer to an acute floor
5. Discharge with nebulizer treatments with instructions to follow up at the pulmonary clinic and her pediatrician’s office

During this conference, think about Anna and her family.
What challenges does this family face?
What are the challenges at each point in their care journey?
What are the overall challenges and strengths for their developing lives and family?
Reflections on Learning
Think about what you have learned during each session and how it might be used to help you care for Anna and her family by responding to the questions below.
1. What challenges does this family face?
2. How does this presentation relate to this family?
3. What did you learn from this presentation that would help you care for this family?

Use this worksheet to take some notes throughout the day.
